

Mr. Handyman does some handy work

Mark Slagle (front, left), owner of Mr. Handyman in Trenton, and one of his employees, Dan Kellepourey, stand in front of a railing they installed for Dearborn resident Irene Oleszek (back, second from right), who is legally blind and has arthritis. American House Foundation pays for companies to assist older adults with projects. The grant was awarded to Wayne State University's Institute of Gerontology, which teamed with The Senior Alliance of Wayne to hire Mr. Handyman. Also in the back row are Terry Bailey (left) of WSU, Michelle Karamon of the American House Foundation and Linda DeVore, a Senior Alliance program specialist.

